

Alexandria Gazette.

SATURDAY EVENING, APRIL 2.

A PROSPEROUS JOURNAL.—If you want "show," combined with rapid money making, says an exchange, you must see the office of the London Daily Telegraph, in Fleet street. This paper was always attractive, and it has now reached such a pitch of prosperity as to enable it to practice an independence. But it owes its success to the Levy Lawsons, whose efforts alone have made it worth $1,250,000 a year, although, when its present proprietor took it over from Col. Sleight, who started it in 1855, the advertisements in the first number amounted to no more than $2. Fifteen years later the advertisement money was estimated at $3,000 a day, and the circulation had gone up above and beyond 190,000 copies. To day it is hardly possible to say what amount the advertisement columns daily bring in, but it has been stated that in one day the gross income from that source has exceeded $8,000 while the sale of the papers rarely falls below 220,000 and frequently tops a quarter of a million. In a slack season more than 2,000 advertisements are daily received; but during the parliamentary season, once, and sometimes twice a week, the journal is enlarged to twelve pages, and the total number of advertisements published raised to nearly 5,000. In order to deal with this mass of matter and stupendous circulation extensive composing and machine rooms are required. The machine room contains ten web perfecting machines, which generally run two hours each, turning out 12,000 copies each per hour. Besides these there are some smaller presses and a row of paperdampers. As much paper as possible is made at the Daily Telegraph mills at Dartford, in Kent, and the profit on this item alone reaches $100,000 per annum. Out of their princely returns it is not to be wondered that the Lawsons can now and again make a dash into some expensive expedition.

Despise Not the Day of Small Things. Little things may help a man to rise—a bent pin in an easy chair for instance. Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" are small things, pleasant to take, and they cure sick-headache, relieve torpid livers and do wonders. Being purely vegetable they cannot harm any one. All druggists.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Mrs. Winstow's SOOTHING SYRUP, for children teething, is the prescription of one of the best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. During the process of teething its value is incalculable. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhoea, griping in the bowels, and wind-colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price 25 cents a bottle. m65-17-M.W.S.
